

Proposals to eliminate Morse Code testing for HF Amateur Radio Privileges should be rejected. The present 5 word per minute examination does not prevent any motivated license applicant from obtaining access to amateur frequency allocations. Since Amateur Radio Licensees are allowed to build and operate their own transmitters, an ability to communicate using the most easily constructed and bandwidth efficient transmitter should continue to be a requirement for licensing.